CrawfordTech Opens New Corporate Headquarters

New location reflects sustained growth and helps better serve clients

Toronto, ON, 21 April 2009 - Crawford Technologies Inc., the award-winning provider of transactional customer communications solutions, today announced that it has opened its new corporate office in Toronto, Canada. The new downtown location is a strategic move that reflects a dramatic increase in demand for the company's products and services.

The opening of the new headquarters coincides with the opening of the company's new office in the United States. The US office was established earlier this year to support the company's Document Accessibility Services (DAS), providing alternate format statements for its clients' blind, low-vision and print-disabled customers. More information on DAS is available at www.altformats.com.

The new 4,000 square foot headquarters is more than twice the size of the company's previous office. It houses the company's development, QA, services and support teams as well the administrative and operational personnel. Additionally, the new facility is home to the company's mainframe computer.

"As part of our ongoing expansion, we are really excited by this move and the resulting upgrade to our infrastructure," said Ernie Crawford, company President, "These new facilities enable us to better respond to the needs of our clients globally and will support the continued growth in all of our functional units, including product development, quality assurance, customer support and professional services."

To celebrate the move, CrawfordTech is holding an open house at its new office on the afternoon of June 11th, 2009. The office is located at 45 St. Clair Avenue West, Suite 102, Toronto ON, Canada and can be reached by phone, toll-free, at 1-866-679-0864.
